

COMPANY PROFILE

SINCE 2005

About us

SMCP - General Marine Supply is a Brazilian ship chandling company established in 2005, specializing exclusively in the southern region of Brazil. With nearly two decades of focused regional expertise, SMCP has developed comprehensive capabilities in marine supply services across the strategic ports of Santa Catarina and Paraná states.

Quality Assurance and Compliance

All products and services are subject to comprehensive quality control procedures that ensure compliance with international maritime standards. Our quality assurance encompasses supplier qualification, product inspection, storage management, and delivery verification.

Supplier Management

Comprehensive qualification procedures include facility audits, quality system evaluations, and ongoing performance monitoring to ensure consistent compliance with quality standards.

Product Quality Control

All products undergo incoming inspection, proper storage under controlled conditions, and regular quality assessments to ensure continued compliance with specifications.
